2. Know we will act in your best interests.

Milford's focus is on enterprises that we believe demonstrate the highest levels of corporate governance and a strong commitment to their stakeholders. If our standards are not being met, we will seek change or sell our shareholding in an effort to protect your investment in the process.

Milford constantly assesses factors that influence the value of your investments. We will proactively alter our investment strategy if our view of the market, a company's management, or trading conditions change. Milford's policy of seeking to protect investors' capital means when we believe markets will fall significantly, we don't expect our clients to simply weather the storm. We will actively seek to preserve our investors' capital.

Fair and reasonable fees.

Our investment philosophy

Investment philosophy

As investment markets are in a state of constant change, Milford adopts an active approach to investing.

This allows Milford to take advantage of investment opportunities as they arise, and seek to provide a level of capital protection when markets are less favourable.

The key principles that underpin our investment philosophy are:

1. We adopt an active portfolio management approach.
2. We adopt a more defensive approach to seek to provide a degree of capital protection in less favourable markets and take a more aggressive investment approach when our view of markets is more positive.
3. We are committed to undertake investment research of the assets we invest in and conduct regular company visits.
4. We seek to understand the changes in the local and global economic environments and how these changes are likely to impact the markets in which our clients' assets are invested.
5. We seek to manage risk through appropriate portfolio diversification.
6. We focus on key competencies and in instances where we lack specific skills and knowledge, we engage with organisations that can provide these for us.
7. Milford is a strong advocate on your behalf, particularly in terms of corporate governance of the entities we invest in as well as environmental and social factors.

Milford's investment process

Investment process

Milford's Investment Team follows the process outlined on the right in developing and finalising investment decisions.

Milford's investment process involves conducting our own proprietary research. We undertake analysis of the macro-economic environment as well as a fundamental analysis of the industries and individual entities within our investment universe.

Our macro-economic analysis, via the monitoring and analysis of economic data, aims to identify changes to the prospects of particular asset classes and industries, including the direction of interest rates.

Our fundamental analysis aims to identify the best opportunities within identified asset classes and industries for investment. We aim to meet with a large number of companies each year across a wide range of industries to discuss with management their prospects.

When considering individual companies, we seek to understand key value drivers for bond and share investments including; the company's competitive position and industry structure, the strength of its balance sheet, the quality and sustainability of earnings as well as the board and senior management, and ESG factors.

Milford's Investment Forum meetings bring together all of our research where investment ideas are formally presented and debated for potential implementation by the Portfolio Managers. The Investment Forum aims to promote collaboration on investment decisions and leverage the extensive industry experience and knowledge, both in New Zealand and overseas, held amongst the team. The Portfolio Managers are responsible for final selection of the securities to include within a portfolio.
