The Fund rose 4.1% in November with strong returns from both share and fixed income markets in response to falling long-term interest rates. The major New Zealand, Australian and global share market indices rose 5.4%, 5.0% and 8.3% respectively. Interest rates fell as investors became more optimistic of a soft economic landing, where inflation falls and central banks reduce interest rates without a significant deterioration in economic growth. In contrast to global markets, the New Zealand Reserve Bank signalled that further hikes may be necessary to control inflation. The prospect of higher relative interest rates supported the NZ dollar, which rose 5.7% versus the US dollar during the month. This rise reduced the returns on unhedged offshore investments.

Key positive company investments during the month included Gentrack (+18.4%), Uber Technologies (+30.3%), Cellnex (+26.6%) and PulteGroup (+20.2%). Gentrack, the NZ listed global utilities software company, rose following a strong result where it increased revenue 34% for the year and upgraded its guidance for 2024 revenue. Uber rose following a strong earnings result where it continued to demonstrate strong revenue growth, with bookings rising 21% as the company continues to add new users. The number of Uber trips grew 25% to approximately 27 million trips per day. Cellnex, which owns mobile phone towers in Europe, and US homebuilder PulteGroup both benefited from lower long-term interest rates.

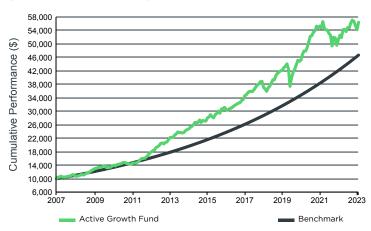

The outlook for share markets is supported by resilient growth in the United States, and the prospect that falling inflation will allow central banks to reduce interest rates in 2024. Negatives are patchy economic growth outside of the United States and the prospect that increased government issuance and sticky inflation leads to higher rates for longer. Following the recent market rally, the valuation of shares has also increased with the expected return premium to cash and fixed income relatively low. Given this backdrop, the strategy of the Fund remains on the cautious side with higher weights to company fixed income than typical. Selective fixed income provides attractive yields with relatively low levels of risk. The Milford team remains active to isolate quality companies, with strong management teams and attractive valuations, which we believe will deliver attractive medium-term risk adjusted returns.
