The Fund rose 1.4% in January, driven by continued strength in US shares as a result of falling inflation and resilient economic growth. The US share market (+1.7%) outperformed other major markets, including New Zealand (+0.9%) and Australia (+1.19%), due to the significant weighting to technology companies. Technology companies are benefiting from excitement around the potential of artificial intelligence.

Key positive contributors to Fund performance were US hospital operator HCA Healthcare (+12.6%), social media business Meta (+10.2%), cloud computing software company ServiceNow (+8.3%) and software company Microsoft (+5.7%). HCA performed well on the back of a strong fourth quarter result and guidance for 2024 ahead of market expectations. Meta benefited from investor demand for companies with exposure to artificial intelligence, while ServiceNow and Microsoft were both beneficiaries of the broader rally in technology companies.

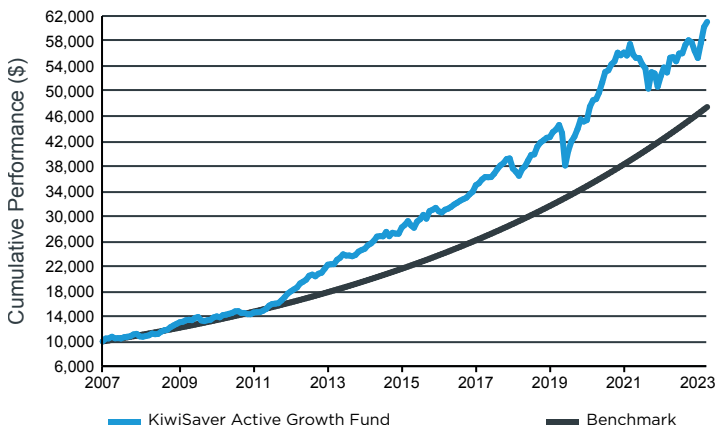

Going forward, share markets are supported by continued resilience in the US economy and the prospect of interest rate cuts from the middle of this year. Negatives are slowing growth in regions outside the US, risks of sticky inflation given resilient consumer spending, and a starting point of more full company valuations following the recent rally. The Milford team remains active to identify quality companies with strong management teams and attractive valuations, which we believe will deliver attractive medium-term, risk-adjusted returns.
