The Fund returned 2.5% in January supported by a strong start to the year for Australian and global share markets, which rose 4.6% and 3.5% respectively. Shares benefited from continued market optimism over economic and company earnings growth. The New Zealand share market was the outlier falling 0.9% reflecting the relatively weak economy.

Key company performers during the month included US companies Interactive Brokers (+23.1%), Meta Platforms (+17.7%), JP Morgan (+12.1%) and Netflix (+9.6%). All of these companies reported very strong results during the month. Interactive Brokers is benefiting from strong demand for its trading services with customer accounts rising 30% and revenues 37% compared to the previous year. Interactive Brokers has benefited from its strong product and relatively low-cost trading services. Meta Platforms rose after it posted an impressive 22% growth in revenues for the 2024 year driven by increase in the number of ads and the price per ad. Netflix also delivered impressive results with the number of subscribers rising by just over 40 million in 2024 to a total of 301 million. Netflix also continues to increase its margins as it spreads its content costs over more users resulting in a 27% increase in earnings for the year.

Looking forward, shares remain supported by strong growth in the US, the prospect of further interest rate cuts and continued investor enthusiasm. The key risk for share markets is that investor enthusiasm has led to high valuations in many companies, particularly US growth companies. High valuations increase the risk of market falls if growth disappoints. Outside of the US, valuations are more reasonable however, this is offset by a lower growth environment particularly in Europe and China. The Fund has increased allocations to the United Kingdom where we believe valuations are attractive and that growth could improve with falling inflation and interest rates. The strategy of the Fund remains active and to construct a portfolio of companies with good medium-term risk return prospects while being disciplined on valuation.
