The Fund fell 0.9% in November in what was a volatile and patchy market. Global share markets performed well initially following generally good earnings results and investor enthusiasm, however, fell late in the month to end down 1.5% due to concerns over Omicron. The New Zealand market was particularly weak falling 2.9% due to concerns that interest rate rises will slow the economy and reduce the attractiveness of NZ shares.

Key company positives during the month were Fisher & Paykel Healthcare (FPH, +6.8%), US homebuilder DR Horton (+9.4%) and US Home Improvement retailer Lowes (+4.6%). FPH benefitted from a good first half earnings result as its products remain in demand from hospitals to treat COVID patients. Strong hardware sales also provide the potential for ongoing sales of their consumables. DR Horton rose following impressive results with earnings rising 65% from the previous year due to strong demand for housing and rising margins. Lowes also reported better than expected sales and earnings results as consumer demand remained robust. During the month the Fund added to select fixed income holdings which, following rate rises, offered more attractive investment returns.

The medium-term outlook for shares remains supported by the prospect of solid economic growth, strong company earnings, low short-term interest rates and high levels of liquidity. The key headwinds for markets are relatively high valuations, generally optimistic investor sentiment and the prospect of rising inflation and interest rates. The discovery of the new Covid virus strain Omicron also put the market's focus back on risks. Whilst parts of the market have relatively full valuations, we continue to find companies which are reasonably valued. Given rising risks, the Fund reduced the allocation toward shares during the month to approximately 70%. The strategy of the Fund is to remain active and construct a portfolio of investments which provide attractive medium-term risk adjusted returns.
