The Fund returned -0.7% in December, bringing the one year return to -6.1%. Although share markets were generally weaker in December, the Fund's defensive positions meant that much of the gains of the past six months were preserved.

Central banks around the world slowed the pace of rate hikes in December, but surprised markets with their message of higher interest rates for longer. This backdrop of higher interest rates will be a headwind to the economy and financial markets for the foreseeable future. But higher rates also deliver much better returns on cash and bond investments, which means the outlook for returns is improving despite the forecasts for recession in NZ and abroad.

Ongoing uncertainty regarding the outlook demands a flexible approach, and market volatility provides opportunities to reposition the Fund. For example, the past few months have seen a strong run up in the NZ dollar. We think this is at odds with the relatively weaker outlook for the NZ economy and so the Fund has been increasing its foreign currency exposure accordingly. The Fund also further reduced exposure to shares, taking advantage of market strength in November. This helped cushion against the falls seen into year end.

Whatever surprises 2023 has in store, we continue to look for profitable investments to help deliver strong, long-term returns.
