The Fund returned 3.3% in November, bringing the one-year return to 5.1%. November was a very strong month for returns, an encouraging development after a tough year for asset prices. The month saw large rallies in both bond and share markets with a rising tide lifting all boats. In a remarkably swift change in direction from the weaker markets over the three months prior, investors have rapidly embraced the notion of a soft landing, and stocks and bonds have moved to reflect this consensus.

The Fund had increased its exposure to shares at the end of October and this helped capture the rally over the past month. Furthermore, the outperformance of corporate bonds relative to government bonds also helped returns in the month, as the portfolio is heavily tilted to corporate bonds. In a month where everything rallied, stock selection was less of a feature for returns, but it was encouraging to see recent addition Uber Technologies (+30.3%) do so well. Some of the interest rate sensitive names that we hold also did well, such as Australian property group Stockland (+16.7%).

Looking ahead, we are encouraged that the cycle is evolving in a benign way, with inflation falling and economic growth remaining modestly positive. But we are concerned that investors have become a little enamoured with the soft-landing outlook and much of the good news is already priced in. To that end, the Fund reduced exposure to both stocks and bonds at the end of the month.
