In August, the Fund returned -0.1%, bringing the one-year return to 4.1%.

Market returns were weaker in the month. Global and NZ shares delivered their worst monthly performance of 2023 whilst bond prices were mixed. In currencies, the NZ dollar weakened by almost 4% against the US dollar. Investors are grappling with a diverging world, with a very strong US economy contrasting with a weaker Europe and China, with NZ and Australia also in the weak category.

Last month, the Fund's asset allocation tilts paid off as we had been underweighting the NZ dollar, increased exposure to Australian bonds vs US bonds, and held a lower exposure to shares. In addition, volatility in bond prices over the month allowed for an increase in bond exposure in the Fund in general.

Even allowing for the large divergences in global growth, the trend does look to be one of gently slowing. With central banks largely done on their hiking cycle, the coming year should be one where bonds prices stop falling or can maybe rise, in addition to the strong yields on offer from the bonds themselves.

1. The Fund does not have a performance benchmark, hence a market index has been included for comparison purposes. See the Statement of Investment Policy and Objectives for more details on the market index. The market index is a blend of indices that represent the Fund's neutral asset allocation. Note the Fund's investment strategy is designed to achieve its objective, which may mean that at times, the returns of the market index may not be an appropriate measure. 2. After the base fund fee but before tax. 3. The yield to maturity is not an indicator of future return, but reflects the current yield to maturity of the fund's underlying holdings (before tax and after the base fund fee). 4. Where applicable, the Base Fund Fee includes an estimate of non-related underlying fund charges. 5. The Total Fund Fees comprise the Base Fund Fee and any estimated Performance Fee. Please refer to the Product Disclosure Statement for more information as to how these are calculated. 6. Please note past performance is not a guarantee of future returns.
