The Fund returned 0.3% last month, bringing the one-year return to 4.9%. A busy start to the year with moves across stocks, currencies and commodities. Through the noise, the Fund performed well with many of the asset allocation positions working well. Our more defensive (i.e. low risk) UK & European stocks performed well last month with stocks such as UK utility SSE (+11.2%) and Spanish airport operator Aena (+10.1%) strong contributors to Fund performance.

Large fund exposure to NZ and Australian bonds has been a modest headwind recently as the prices of these bonds have been falling (in anticipation of future rate hikes). But we think this presents an investment opportunity and the Fund has increased exposure to these assets – good yields on offer will support Fund performance going forward. We continue to avoid US dollar denominated bonds as we think they are poor value and at risk of rising inflation, we are more heavily positioned in UK bonds as high inflation falls, likely allowing the Bank of England to cut rates over coming months.

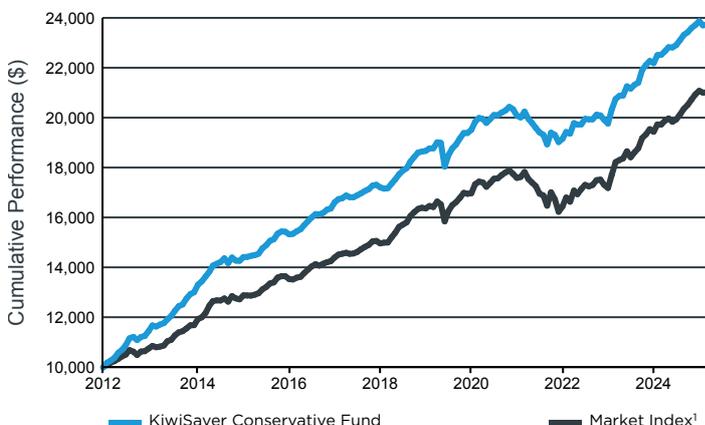

Looking ahead, the fundamental backdrop is good for shares as growth is expected to be strong. This is typically bad for bonds but we are comfortable that this expected economic growth is already factored in to the price of the bonds we own (e.g. in Australia and NZ) and we have avoided the bonds where prices are most at risk (e.g. in the US). With a shifting policy backdrop it remains likely that there will be volatility and opportunities to shift fund positions, but we will continue to take a patient approach.

1. The Fund does not have a performance benchmark, hence a market index has been included for comparison purposes. See the Statement of Investment Policy and Objectives for more details on the market index. The market index is a blend of indices that represent the Fund's neutral asset allocation. Note the Fund's investment strategy is designed to achieve its objective, which may mean that at times, the returns of the market index may not be an appropriate measure. 2. After the Base Fund Fee but before tax. 3. The yield to maturity is not an indicator of future return, but reflects the current yield to maturity of the fund's underlying holdings (before tax and after the base fund fee). 4. Where applicable, the Base Fund Fee includes an estimate of non-related underlying fund charges. 5. The Total Fund Fees comprise the Base Fund Fee and any estimated Performance Fee. Please refer to the Product Disclosure Statement for more information as to how these are calculated. 6. Please note past performance is not a guarantee of future returns.
