The Fund returned 0.6% in February, bringing the one-year return to 6.6%. February was yet another positive month, driven almost entirely by strength in global shares. Australian shares were only modestly higher and NZ shares fell. Last month saw many of our holdings report earnings, and this was the catalyst for some large moves. Happily, some of the Fund's significant holdings had great outcomes. Meta was up 25.8% and Uber Technologies was up 21.8%. Both these stocks have been strong performers over the past three months.

In the infrastructure space, Spanish airport owner Aena has been doing well, rallying 6.6% in February. These performances were enough to lift returns last month, but there were still drags from bonds and NZ shares. The Fund remains underweight in both bonds and NZ shares, and there seems no respite in sight for the local share market as the NZ economy continues to struggle along.

The remarkable rally in global shares since November 2023 continues as investors reassess the likelihood of a sharp global downturn. Add in the excitement around the AI theme and US shares have been on a bull run. It's hard to know how long this will last, but the rally appears to be well advanced and so we are alert for changes in leadership and momentum. In the meantime, a more benign economic backdrop continues to offer opportunities for stock selection in our Funds.

1. The Fund does not have a performance benchmark, hence a market index has been included for comparison purposes. See the Statement of Investment Policy and Objectives for more details on the market index. The market index is a blend of indices that represent the Fund's neutral asset allocation. Note the Fund's investment strategy is designed to achieve its objective, which may mean that at times, the returns of the market index may not be an appropriate measure. 2. After the Base Fund Fee but before tax and before the performance fee. 3. Where applicable, the Base Fund Fee includes an estimate of non-related underlying fund charges. 4. The Total Fund Fees comprise the Base Fund Fee and any estimated Performance Fee. Please refer to the Product Disclosure Statement for more information as to how these are calculated. 5. Please note past performance is not a guarantee of future returns.
